Open research

Convert your article to Gold Open Access

If you have been informed that your article is eligible to be made Gold OA under an institutional open access agreement or the Cambridge Open Equity Initiative and would like to convert your article, you are required to select a Creative Commons licence.

To convert your article to Gold OA, please complete this form ↗.

Please check the following eligibility criteria before submitting the form:

- Ensure you are the corresponding author of the manuscript
- Your manuscript is original research. Eligible article types are research articles, review articles, rapid communications, brief reports or case reports
- Your manuscript has been published in a journal included in your institution's chosen collection. Please see our eligibility checker for a complete list
- Your manuscript was accepted for publication during the terms of your institution's agreement
- Your request must be submitted no later than the 31 March of the year after the date your article was accepted for publication

Deal restrictions may apply and you will be advised upon submitting the form. Final approval may be at your library's discretion. Please contact openresearch@cambrige.org ↗ should you have any questions.

Need support?

If you're unsure about any of the information required to submit this form and your request, please contact openresearch@cambrige.org ↗. Our team will be able to support you and can provide further instructions. FAQs can also be found below.

FAQs

Which Creative Commons license should I select?

I want to make my article open access, will I incur any cost for the articles processing charge (APC)?

Will my institution be charged for my APC?

I am no longer affiliated with the institution where I conducted my research and is named on the article. Does that still make me eligible to convert my article to open access under an institutional open access agreement?

I am the corresponding author of a paper and would like to make it open access under my affiliated institution's open access agreement. However, not all of my co-authors are affiliated with the same institution. Is the paper still eligible?

I haven't signed an author publishing agreement yet, do I need to sign this form as well?

Is there a deadline to convert my article?

What happens after I have filled out this form?

My article includes material in which a third party owns copyright. Do I need their permission to convert it to Gold OA?

This website uses cookies

By clicking “Accept all cookies”, you agree to the storing of cookies on your device to enhance site navigation, analyse site usage, and assist in our marketing efforts which includes personalised advertising on certain pages. Cookie notice

Cookie Settings
Reject all
Accept all cookies
×